FATHER DISS CONDUCTS PRIVATE FLAG RAISING

In front of St. Patrick's church the pastor, Father Diss has had erected a shapely flag staff from which he threw to the breezes yesterday a fine flag which he proposes to keep flying until after the surrender of the Germans.

PATRIOTIC CITIZENS ASSEMBLE AT THE AIRDOME LAST EVENING

The Airdome was filled last evening with an enthusiastic audience gathered to testify to support of the administration in all things pertaining to the war. The chair was occupied by Ivan Arnold, who introduced the subject at heart with a neat speech in which he reviewed the conditions of America today and emphatically declared that if the citizens of the United States wished to continue in the enjoyment of free schools, free speech and freedom of religion they must extend an unqualified allegiance to the principles enunciated by President Wilson. The remarks were received with applause and then the regular program was introduced with the distribution of flags to everyone present.

The stage was beautifully set with the national colors abounding. The speaker's rostrum was draped with red, white and blue, while extending from the right proscenium was a large Stars and Stripes. The patriotic suggestions and the back of the stage was occupied by a dais on which Miss Gertrude Rippington impersonated Columbia in costume. At her right was Harold Degan, attired as a bluejacket in U. S. naval uniform, while on her left she was supported by Private Smith, U. S. recruiting officer, in regulation khaki. The national anthem

DEMOCRACIES OF THE WORLD AGAINST AUTOCRATIC AGGRESSION

(By Associated Press.) PHILADELPHIA, April 20.—The "grand alliance" between the United States and the democracies of Europe against autocratic aggression as practiced by Germany gives rise to the hope that the war will lead to a federation of the world, in the opinion of Walter Lippmann, of New York, associated editor of the "New Republic," expressed today in an address on "America's Relations to the World Conflict," before the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

"I know it sounds a little old-fashioned to use that phrase, the federation of the world," said Mr. Lippmann, "because we have used it so long in empty rhetoric. But no other idea is big enough to describe the alliance. It is no longer an offensive-defensive military agreement among diplomats. It is growing into a union of peoples determined to end forever that intriguing, adventurous nationalism which has torn the world for three centuries. 'The war is dissolving into a stupendous revolution. A few months

BUILDING SPUR TRACK TO MONARCH PITTS

ANOTHER SHIPPER ADDED TO THE TONNAGE LIST OF TONOPAH MINES

R. W. Cattermole, engineer of the Tonopah & Goldfield railroad, is here from Goldfield for the purpose of deciding on a survey for the construction of a spur to the Monarch Pittsburg mine. This company is now in a position where it will continue to be a regular shipper and therefore Manager Branch Smith is anxious to secure the best facilities for handling the ore. The track will extend from about the old powder house directly north of the shaft on the main line a distance of about 2000 feet, as it is necessary to avoid a direct line in order to secure an easy grade. The Monarch Pittsburg ore will be sent to the Belmont mill at Millers. The first shipments were treated at the West End mill where they were delivered by trucks but with a steady output it is found more economical to provide for all rail transportation.

After spending nearly a week in making ventilating improvements, the Monarch began hoisting ore this morning and it is presumed that shipments will go steadily forward. Streaks of good ore continue to show in the face of the 809 east drift which is being extended upon the breccia footwall. The 809 east raise continues to show four feet of good ore, which is being put into the bin.

In the west drift which has heretofore been in low grade quartz, a crossing has been encountered which gives promise of developing another good shoot when the same is fully penetrated, that is to say, the shoots usually make between these crossings whose strike is north and south or at right angles to the vein. The vein has a horizontal width of 22 feet at this point and should commercial ore be encountered on the other side of this crossing, the tonnage will be immense.

was sung by Father Diss, as the opening ode with the entire audience standing. The hymn was received with great applause and the pastor of St. Patrick's church was compelled to repeat the verses as an encore.

Frank T. Dunn spoke on the necessity of sustaining the administration and endorsed the sentiments so eloquently expressed by the chairman.

The remainder of the program was an inspiring effort that wrought the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm. Mrs. Lenore Hanby sang "Wake Up America," which certainly succeeded in waking up the house. Rev. Ralph Dayless sang a new version of "America" and was heartily applauded. At this juncture Chairman Arnold announced a tableaux vivants with the following cast: Rev. Harlan Bailey, of St. Mark's church, as Uncle Sam; Mrs. Swasey as the American mother, who offered her boys to the service of their country—Harold Degan for the navy and Dan McNeil for the army. The little scene was excellently staged. Uncle Sam asked for recruits and the mother responded by saying she could not assist in either branch of military service, but she would cheerfully offer her sons. The presentation evoked rounds of applause and the program was brought to a finish by J. J. Degan singing "Columbia."

MANHATTAN CON. ALTERS ITS PLAN

STATION WILL BE CUT AT 310 FEET WHEN THE LATERAL WORK WILL BEGIN

Plans for sinking the shaft of the Manhattan Con. have been changed as it is believed better results will be obtained by cutting a station at 310 feet rather than to continue sinking to the 400 as originally intended. The shaft is down 273 feet and is making progress at the rate of six feet daily. The company lost some time owing to motor troubles necessitating a change in motors. Fortunately the company was not delayed more than a couple of shifts as a motor of the exact size was found at the Monarch Pittsburg mine in Tonopah. This was sent out the next day. Only five shifts were lost on account of this and electric disturbance. The motor was in good condition, but it was not equal to the task of hoisting a ton skip from the 1000 level of the Monarch Pittsburg.

When the station is cut a cross-cut will be extended to the east and it is expected that the ledge will be picked up close to the face of the station. This is done to enable the company to handle the flow of water which is expected when the ledge is encountered. The plan is to cut a sump at the 310 and take the station pump down to that level from the 200 station.

A No. 6 Cameron sinking pump came in by express today so the company will be fully prepared for any emergency. After the ledge is cut it is proposed to return to the shaft which will be continued to the 400 level.

TONOPAH BOY ENTERS THE UTAH CAVALRY

Although there does not seem to be a grand scramble of local residents to enlist, still Tonopah comes to the front in news from other places that its boys are joining the colors of Uncle Sam.

From Ogden, Utah, hails the news that Frank B. Grady has enlisted in Troop B or Troop K of the national guard of Utah, and they are now camped at Fort Douglas, on the outskirts of Salt Lake, and are already in regular military training.

When the war broke out Grady was working at Baker, Oregon, with Jack Eccles, son of the late David Eccles, who was one of the biggest and wealthiest men of the intermountain region. They immediately wired for an opportunity to enlist in the troop and were notified that a place would be saved for them, so on the next train they departed and are now learning to dig trenches and all other things that a modern soldier must know.

Mr. Grady is the son of Mrs. L. R. Robins and is well known in Tonopah, where he has always been held in the highest esteem and enjoyed a very large friendship. Before leaving for Ogden he was a member of the Mizpah Hill club and was employed for several years in the Tonopah Belmont Development company as surveyor.

His many friends congratulate him on his patriotism and know that he is made of the stuff which makes a soldier.
